Beyond the views today classics of Edo, Tokyo of before 1868, Hiroshige is going to pull us in two mythical journeys, by making us borrow both roads which connect Edo with Kyoto. There is a road of the South said Tokaido and a road of the North said Kisokaido. By stopping in each of the villages of these two roads, about fifty by route, the works of Hiroshige make us penetrate in this imaginary and ancestral Japan, this dreamed world. But it is before any an internal journey in which invites us Hiroshige, a journey of meditation.
